The illustration shows a scene on a platform. In the upper left, there is a train with a blue engine and an orange carriage, with a pink balloon attached to the engine. In the center, there is another train with a blue engine and an orange carriage, also with a pink balloon attached to the engine. To the left of this second train, there is a single pink balloon. At the bottom of the scene, there are two more items: a train with a blue engine and an orange carriage, and a single pink balloon. To the right of each of these bottom items is an empty square box for counting.
